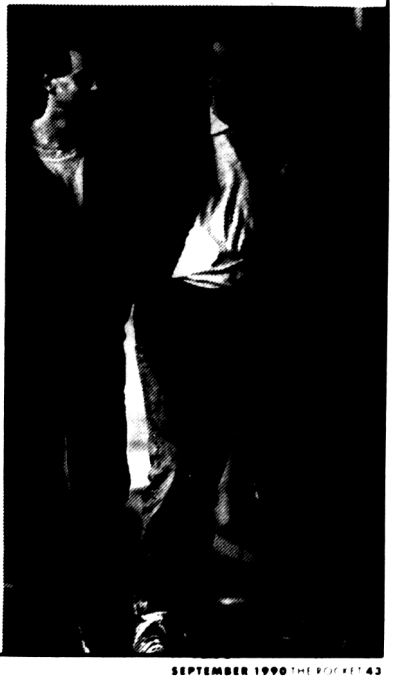
One of the best weapons in the fight against AIDS has been with us all along.



Friends. We share a lot with them. Good times, laughs, worries, heartaches. Real friends are always there for us, no matter how difficult the problem.

Dealing with the reality of AIDS hasn't been easy. But talking, really talking, to those close to you about AIDS can help. Knowing you aren't alone makes it easier to deal with AIDS — the personal grief, the frustration, the struggle of sticking to your safer sex commitments.

Let's open up and be there for our friends. Because talking about it will help.

We've Got To Talk About AIDS.
